

Part Two

TWELVE
VISIONS

SEE THE FUTURE

Prologue

See the Future

Within this section you will see into the future. Achieved through Neothink®, predicting future events is not mysticism. It is absolutely real!

This next level of thinking is utterly new to the ordinary person and is like lighting a hidden cavern of treasures the world has never seen. You will immediately use these Neothink® Visions, hidden from the world in this highly-guarded manuscript. Let me tell you, those visions unlock the greatest predictive powers on Earth.

If you take the power of Part One's Greatest Kept Secret plus the following Neothink® Visions and multiply them by the Neothink® Secret Meetings with me, together you unfold a new power in your life known only to the members in this exclusive Neothink® Society. The Self-Leader Secret, the Neothink® Visions, and the Secret Meetings with me combine to lift you to a happier, more satisfying life.

You will now learn to see and control future events. In Part One, you got a small taste of future-controlling power. Remember power-thinking? Now we will go to the next level!

In Earth's "normal" society, life is a dangerous high-stakes poker game of sorts — from battling political parties to warring nations. But there is an entire cavern of treasures, of hidden knowledge, untouched by Earth's poker games (games that pillage and plunder the people). Neothink® Visions allow a member to light up that secret cavern of treasures in order to cash in personally, romantically, and financially anywhere in the world, even during personal or financial hard times, inflation, boom times, recession, depression, war. Why? Because these Neothink® Visions of tomorrow bring you enormous advantages today.

This second part of your journey contains unique life advantages. Instead of working hard to overcome the irrational forces and obstacles in the society we live in, these new techniques lift the ordinary person above it all.

You are walking into a new world, a new life. I know that sounds incredible now, but you will fully understand once you get into these Neothink® Visions of the future.

Here is how you will see the future: As with any puzzle, a point comes when you can see what the puzzle-picture is going to look like before all the pieces are in place. The missing pieces are the future, and you know what they look like. That is why experienced Neothink® geniuses make good money — they think in puzzle-pictures in order to know the missing pieces, the future. They know how to invest time and money for big wins. They also know how to avoid big losses.

Moreover, in business and love, I have found that those missing pieces are the elusive, missing pieces in life...those always-missing mysterious pieces to money, power, and love. Yes, that “something more” we all long for and search for. Through building Neothink® puzzle-pictures, you know what those missing pieces are, what they look like, and you eventually snap them in place. No one else does. You not only control, but you create your own future.

Other people hopelessly, sadly lament that “something more” must exist to life. But not you or your children, not after you journey through Part Two and my Secret Meetings. Soon, you will understand the Society’s secret code of replacing external leaders with self-leaders...replacing the follower mentality with the self-leader mentality.

With the self-leader secret code of living, you will see through Neothink® eyes and snap your deepest desires into place and enjoy that “something more” for the rest of your life. So will your children. Within the Society, nothing remains missing in your life. Nothing remains missing in your children’s lives or their children’s lives. The secrets to money, power, and love reside within the Neothink® Society.

The Neothink® Visions put together sweeping puzzles that go over everyone else’s head. Before a new member knows it, he or she can see what reaches well beyond the ordinary person’s scope of knowledge. He can see beyond words and thoughts...he can see the large puzzle-pictures of life.

It is truly another life in another world. In this second leg of your journey, you snap the puzzle together. A big puzzle-picture will form before your eyes. Now, you will see the large picture only geniuses see. Indeed, you will see and think in puzzle-pictures, just as the geniuses. In fact, you too will become such a genius! Why? Because the Twelve Neothink® Visions snap together the future! Here is one member's testimony:

"I am living proof. I now see the future as will you when you read the Neothink® Manuscript. I now love the present as will you in the Neothink® Society.

"In a brief statement about my life now with Neothink®: organizations all over the world woo me to talk at their companies and conferences. They know the power in knowing the future before others do and loving the present as few others do.

"I just have all this power and wealth and happiness by being able to know the future. I give talks all over the world about my life-advantages. My power comes from this Neothink® Manuscript and the subsequent Secret Meetings with Mark Hamilton.

"I have graduated into one of the few proficient persons in the world at seeing the future. Now, you are going to see exactly how to do what I have done when you read through the Neothink® Visions. I am excited for you!

"Like me, you will now discover what every adult always wanted to know but could not find the slightest clue. You will live far beyond the capacity of your peers. You will no longer suffer in silent frustration watching your life, dreams, or love slip away. While reading through the Twelve Visions, you will discover a creativity locked inside you that you never knew you had — a creativity that will reopen your passion for life. You will now rise from your knees to make your best dreams come true! And you will keep on rising when you are here with us in the Secret Meetings. You will rise past all roadblocks and failures that have kept you from becoming the person you have always dreamed of — the person you were meant to be. Now, you will live the dream every day, starting with Vision One.

"With these new techniques, you alone will perform better than a bunch of big-shots all together. No doubt about it. You will function at quantum-leap levels beyond others.

"Today, I watch myself experience what I once only daydreamed about. Once I entered Mark Hamilton's Secret Meetings...wow. I cannot tell you the way I felt watching myself month after month becoming the most happy, excited, vibrant person I had ever seen, surrounded by my soulmates! My dreams all came true as I fulfilled my fantasy-life. Now, I see it happening to my children. Soon, I will see it happening to you. The joy and happiness is indescribable.”

Twelve Neothink® Visions

— A Neothink® Society Member

Your life will go to a whole new level of excitement and wealth when you see the future through these Neothink® Visions. As your prime mentor in the Neothink® Society, I want you, here in Part Two, to fulfill your human potential as you step into the approaching Twelve-Visions World.

The Approaching Twelve-Visions World

I observe people. Their behaviors are very predictable. Most people, however, have no idea how predictable (and controllable) they are. Let's take a look:

Our behaviors descend directly from nature's original design of the human brain. That original design can be understood by observing the behavior of man and the structure of his society 150 generations ago.

So, let's go back in time.

If we could send ourselves back in time 150 generations ago, people would seem really weird. They would seem to be in a trance, walking around seemingly with no soul, functioning automatically, systematically to the world around them, sometimes hearing and reacting to imagined voices of their gods, or waiting for directions from oracles or God-Kings who hallucinated voices of the higher gods. The strange people around you would have no sense of self, merely empty-shell automatons with no internal thoughts.

Scientists have learned that man had a completely different mentality 3000 years ago. He did not have the linguistic tools yet to separate from the world around him, to turn inward and think internally as we do today. He had no inner mind space of thoughts and judgements. He went through life reacting as all animals to the world around him.

If you could suddenly go back 150 generations, you would find that civilization functioned smoothly and people communicated through a simplistic language prior to the development of the much more sophisticated metaphor. The metaphor and the analogy use something to describe something else, which enabled man to finally separate from the world directly before him, to step back into an inner mind space from where he could view the world around him, think about it, about himself, to judge and analyze and to introspect. That vast inner mind space, which did not exist in man 150 generations ago, is known as human consciousness. The metaphor was the big bang that opened up the universe of our minds. Before human consciousness, the human race smoothly functioned as well-programmed automatons.

If those people void of human consciousness 150 generations ago talked to you, you would find the communication bizarre. They could only report scenes of action similar to reporting news flashes, but never expressing internal thoughts or judgements whatsoever. Nothing existed internally within their minds. As they simply reported the action, you would be filled with an eerie sense that those people had no soul...as though there were no one inside those bodies. Are they all, you would wonder, under some kind of hypnotic spell? It would seem to you as though they all had undergone some kind of mind-altering lobotomy that removed their individuality. In fact, going back from the twenty-first century, those identity-void automatons would act and talk sort of like data processors, not unlike computers. And, in a sense, their spiritless mentality was just that — sophisticated computers processing the data from the world around them and acting accordingly, just as their brains were programmed from mimicked and learned reactions.

The smoothly functioning civilization around you would appear to be filled with well-programmed but mindless beings. As you stood close to some of those automatically functioning beings, you would begin to think they were schizophrenic as you would hear them talking to themselves or answering imagined voices and obediently obeying hallucinated audio commands from their “gods”. The voices in their heads came from neurological impulses in their brains not unlike nature’s guidance system for any animal, but man’s brain was larger, more intelligent, and had evolved a simplistic language. So, nature’s neurological guidance system that made animals act, functioned in man not through impressions in the mind, but through hallucinated voices of the “gods”. He would audio hallucinate the voices of different gods telling him how to live and survive, especially when under stress and forced to make a decision. Through today’s eyes, looking back, his every action was as predictable as a computer program.

Your second of three highly-guarded Neothink® Manuscripts goes into detail about that different mentality 150 generations ago, shortly before human consciousness opened the vast universe of our minds. The second Nethink® Manuscript describes the hallucinated voices — man's neurological survival mechanism prior to human consciousness. That different mentality is known scientifically as the bicameral mentality from the Bicameral Age three thousand to ten thousand years ago.

The bicameral civilizations were structured into effective theocracies. The higher position in the hierarchy of power one was, the more powerful gods he could "hear" and, in turn, give direction to the trancelike masses of automatons waiting to be led.

On the other hand, if you went back and spoke with authority to those automatons 150 generations ago, they would obey your commands. You would be looked upon as a god, more powerful than their own God-Kings, because you alone could make decisions. Therefore, you would have to be a god, one who gives direction to the automatons waiting for a voice to tell them how to act. You could easily take over an entire civilization just as the small band of conscious European "white gods" easily conquered the wealthy and massive bicameral Inca civilization in South America without any resistance. (The American Indians were still bicameral when the first European explorers arrived.)

That same behavioral pattern of obeying those who speak with authority can be found throughout modern-day politics. Furthermore, although most Western governments today are not theocracies, the same dynamic of leaders and those waiting to be led exists in society's structure and in our own behavioral patterns. Indeed, we would be lost without leaders. In short, society's structure of governments and religions telling man how to live descended directly from the Bicameral Age. Even in the twenty-first century, society's structure is strikingly similar to ancient times.

Man's behavior and society's structure today, although much more sophisticated, still follow the original patterns. By understanding the original behavioral patterns from our early development as an animal of nature and the residual effects on our behavior today, we can get some amazing understandings about ourselves, which includes accurately predicting how we (and others) will act in different situations. Moreover, we can accurately project how things will be as those ancient behavioral patterns wear off. Indeed, those behavioral patterns from our distant past have been slowly wearing off, generation after generation. The twenty-first-century world of super rapidly advancing knowledge and technology will wipe off those old behavioral patterns more quickly than ever before, exposing our next evolution, giving rise to the Twelve Visions.

In time, the bicameral behaviors will wear off completely, which will happen most dramatically in the first half of the twenty-first century as all knowledge since the beginning of time multiplies a hundredfold.¹ Society's structures will change. By understanding the bicameral behaviors and their coming demise, the Twelve Visions into the twenty-first century become quite apparent...and lucrative.

Instead of a ruling class sitting atop society, a new paradigm will unfold as the mind loses its bicameral longings for leaders. As politics become less and less popular, federal and local governments will shrink to military, police, and court protection only. Without massive bureaucratic regulations, millions of entrepreneurial geniuses will rise easily and quickly and will bring society spectacular new technologies that we cannot even imagine now, at lower and lower prices, which will drive up our standards of living and eradicate most diseases.

The fully evolved mentality in that approaching world, an extraordinarily powerful mentality in which man's mind ceases to seek external authority, is called the Neothink® mentality. And with that Neothink® mentality, man needs no hallucinated voices of the gods or modern-day vestiges, no external authorities telling him how to live, no voices of politicians or clergymen. He becomes his own god, so to speak, his own authority, his own God-Man.

God-Man has no traces of bicameral man. God-Man is our next evolution. He will affect the world in amazing ways...amazingly positive ways.

So, let us explore what happens when humanity leaves behind the vestiges of its bicameral past and the modern-day bicameral mutations such as the ruling class of politicians and regulatory bureaucrats — that hierarchy of authorities ruling over us in the name of the “social good”. What happens when man's mind ¹The Futurist Society estimates that all known knowledge on Earth will multiply a hundredfold by 2050 AD.

See The Future

becomes its own authority? The answer is: man realizes his full, human potential. We know the breathtaking knowledge that rose during the Golden Age of Greece 2400 years ago just two dozen generations after the Bicameral Age and its world of powerless, bicameral automatons. The amazing Greeks were discovering the authority of man's own mind, thus unleashing its awesome power.

What could that power lead to in today's world of high technology? The answer is: to a Golden Twelve-Visions World — a world of super rapidly advancing new technologies and super rapidly falling prices. Before long, we will afford all the luxuries of life in the Twelve-Visions World.

In describing that Golden Twelve-Visions World, you will read about a non-authoritarian government opening the starting gates to a great Technological Revolution and making everyone as wealthy as millionaires; you will read about millions of geniuses replacing a few hundred politicians and convincingly taking care of us and all our needs beyond our wildest imaginations...such as bringing us perfect health and perfect bodies as we live with vitality well into our hundreds; you will read about a world where there are not only no diseases, but no violence, crime or terrorism. Also, you will read about a job revolution that will change our boring routine ruts into exciting entrepreneurial jobs with major profit sharing; you will even read about ordinary people having spectacular romances with sexy spouses of their dreams with slim and sensuous bodies; and, of course, you will read about a new way of using the mind called Neothink® and about someday becoming a genius yourself.

Those fortunes will occur in the twenty-first century because of one phenomenon: man sheds his bicameral skin — his longings for higher “authorities” as he makes his final evolutionary “jump” into God-Man. When that begins, civilization will enter a paradise on Earth...our Golden Twelve-Visions World.

The Twelve-Visions World will be a world of super rapidly advancing new technologies. The Twelve-Visions World will become a supercivilization of computerlike, technological revolutions in all industries, including the medical industry, which will make us wealthy and vigorous with nearly perfect health. Let us look at what the Twelve-Visions World will do for us:

The Gifts

(Inner-Circle Visions)

For two decades I have explored removing my bicameral behaviors and have even personally jumped into the realm of Neothink® on several occasions. The power is enormous and has brought me personal success. I have written several books on the subject, but it was not until my Twelve Visions, when I temporarily experienced God-Man, that I connected all the pieces into one clear picture of our Twelve-Visions World to occur as mankind begins evolving into God-Man. The Twelve Visions showed me that in tomorrow's Twelve-Visions World, we lived as millionaires, enjoyed passionate romantic relationships, and enjoyed very long, healthy lives. And, as you will see, you have a very good chance to experience that Twelve-Visions World in your lifetime.

The story about to be told, by the way, offers a benefit even beyond a look at our future. Perhaps just as important, the New Techniques used in the future actually deliver to the reader significant wealth and love, right now, perhaps validating the soundness and probability of the hypothesis. The Twelve Visions show us the Gifts in the Twelve-Visions World enjoyed by tomorrow's multitudes, gifts that, with these New Techniques, I now personally enjoy, too...as you can, too, such as:

- being surrounded by geniuses who help make your every wish come true
- becoming a millionaire with the secrets, visions, powers
- living with extraordinary health, happiness, and longevity
- enjoying the exciting career of your dreams
- soaring to the top of the company you always wanted to work for
- becoming the person you were meant to be
- living the life you were meant to live

See The Future

- making love to the person of your dreams
- becoming slim and sexy with a more satisfying diet than those who are obese
- soaring with superior intelligence using twenty-first-century Neothink®

After my Twelve Visions, I automatically went through a personal renaissance that delivered the Gifts to me, today. (The gift of health and longevity still depends on the Technological Revolution that has just begun.) In short, the knowledge in this book hastens your destiny of becoming a romantic millionaire of the twenty-first century.

The Twelve Visions

(Inner-Circle Visions)

So, if you want to become a millionaire, keep reading. How about living to be 130 years old? Are you searching for romantic love? It's all possible.

One Sunday afternoon, I was in my home office going over some financial papers. Outside my sliding glass door, the day was winding down into dusk when I suddenly and involuntarily started remembering back over my life. I was pulled back in my chair as memories raced through my mind and somehow took me all the way back to my first year of life. As my life rewound in my mind back to my first year, I knew my life and others had to rise to a higher level. I had no idea at the time that the higher level would be man's next evolutionary jump. In fact, at that moment I felt lost...as if every ambitious idea I ever thought of had been relatively ineffectual. I needed some kind of insight on how our lives would be lived radically for the better. I had no clue beyond the life I had always lived.

After watching all those memories in my mind's eye, I next started slipping into visions of my future. I knew a lot about Neothink®, which started integrating into those visions of my future. Gradually, something incredible happened: I could see mankind and our world in a whole new light — like an unexplainable new color. I did not know that I was seeing man after his next evolutionary jump or that I was witnessing his magnificent Twelve-Visions World.

Specifically, I was able to see well into the twenty-first century through Twelve Visions. My mind kept snapping together twelve different puzzle pieces into one brilliant puzzle-picture of our future. I knew that most of the puzzle-pieces did not yet exist, but they snapped so perfectly into the puzzle that I knew they would someday exist. I was aware that this puzzle-building phenomenon was how Neothink® worked, but it all happened so fast that I knew I had gone to some level I had never reached before. Later, I realized I had my first experience as God-Man.

I witnessed the glorious way we lived...in a place where we routinely filled our greatest desires and enjoyed daily the Gifts. When mankind's bicameral mentalities collapsed, our money, our health, our romantic relationships were on entirely new levels. I was so overwhelmed by the prosperity and sheer honesty of what I saw in just one Vision, I laid my head down on my desk and reveled in euphoria. Since I did not know at the time that I had just experienced my first encounter with God-Man, I had no clue what had just happened to me or why I could so quickly and clearly see into the future...not until much later did I learn that my years of experimenting with Neothink® finally enabled me to experience God-Man. (As you will learn, the God-Man can see into the future, even create the future.)

As the phenomenon ended during the middle of the night, something told me the time had come as we entered the third millennium to tell the world. So, to orient you, here are bare abbreviations of half my Visions with enough insights to give you an initial glance at our fast approaching Twelve-Visions World that begins when man begins switching over to Neothink® and evolving into God-Man:

Vision

One Vision showed me unbelievable security. Millions of geniuses rose throughout all industries to take care of our needs and wants. In recent years, geniuses have had the freedom to rise quickly only in the computer industry, and look what they have done: They have brought us cheap home computers with the power of million-dollar mainframes of a decade ago. And for our kids? They play video games at home that would have cost millions a few years ago. In tomorrow's Twelve-Visions Era, Bill Gates-like geniuses "spoiled" us and allowed us to spoil our children and grandchildren with incredible yet affordable goods. Geniuses took care of our personal needs and wants in every industry (not just the computers) as the external authorities and their massive regulations came down. The geniuses were the first to switch over to the Neothink® mentality, and they took wonderful care of us. The new way meant that genuine geniuses, not pretentious politicians, took extraordinary care of us. That was a Gift in the Twelve-Visions World.

Vision

In another Vision, I saw unbelievable wealth. The cost of raw technology moved towards zero. For example, take the technology of fiber optics today. For one person or thousands of persons to talk over that fiber optic cable costs the same — zilch, which by the way is why the telecommunications revolution came to us...now watch the prices fall to nothing. That explains why in tomorrow's Twelve-Visions Era of super rapidly advancing new technologies in all industries, our costs for all those new technologies and resulting consumer products moved towards zero. Thus, similar to the computers, our buying power multiplied hundreds, sometimes thousands of times for most consumer products, raising our buying power toward that of millionaires and beyond. The new way meant that ordinary people were abundantly prosperous, not fighting over their finances month to month. That was a Gift in the Twelve-Visions World.

Vision

A Vision showed me unbelievable health. As technology soared ahead in all industries, the medical industry was no exception. The geniuses of society quickly answered our needs, especially our cries for help. So the geniuses teamed up with super technologies to aggressively go after and eradicate diseases.

Twelve Neothink® Visions

In that disease-free world, most people lived vigorously, well into their hundreds. The new way meant that people did not get sick, and they lived a lot, lot longer. That was a Gift in the Twelve-Visions World.

Vision

In another Vision, I saw unbelievable jobs. In tomorrow's super rapidly advancing Twelve-Visions Era, businesses had to change to keep up and remain competitive. For the first time, businesses had to bring out their greatest assets — the buried creativity in their employees. Things got really exciting at work as we broke the chain of stagnation and soared into the exhilarating new world of creation. With a little help from management, we shocked ourselves at what we could do. We loved to go to work as we achieved things tomorrow we never even dreamed about today. The new way meant that we were now dream builders, not daydreamers. That was a Gift in the Twelve-Visions World.

Vision

In another Vision, I saw unbelievable love. Today we know what that love is like, for we already experienced it when we were first falling in love — those exciting initial few weeks. But the excitement inevitably faded and eventually vanished. That loss of excitement happens because we stagnate financially and emotionally in this suppressed society, and we soon have little energy or love left to give. But tomorrow, we were rich, healthy, successful and happy. We escaped from our stagnation-traps, and we suddenly had lots of energy and love to give. Those initial falling-in-love feelings returned and never left us. The new way meant that we felt the exhilaration of falling in love for our entire lives. That was a Gift in the Twelve-Visions World.

Vision

A Vision showed me unbelievable intelligence. Our minds developed an entirely new way of thinking, helped along by the information explosion. They called the new way of using the mind: Neothink[®] (New Think). Neothink[®] took the endless bits of information and interlocked them by common denominators into a few bigger, more manageable thought clusters or concepts. As those endless bits of floating information snapped together into solid units, they became easy to handle and easy to build upon, sort of like puzzles. So, with bicameral tendencies behind us now and no longer waiting for external guidance, our minds aggressively snapped together more and more knowledge and power to guide itself. We became widely knowledgeable and extremely smart. This new integrated thinking lifted our intelligence to a whole new level. The new way meant that even the dumbest people today became geniuses tomorrow. That was a Gift in the Twelve-Visions World.

After my night of Visions, ending a restless decade and a half of tossing and turning, I finally knew a better life indeed existed. Until now, I was a belabored businessman confronting corruption in politics and difficult regulations. Furthermore, I often faced unrest in my personal life. I was always searching, but I could not get to the better life I somehow knew existed. That Sunday night, everything changed. I received those Twelve Visions from some higher power — I did not know from where it came, perhaps some people would call it God, although later I learned it was my first encounter with God-Man — but the experience was so honest and truthful that the answers to everything that ever bothered me fell into place, and so did my dreams of a better world. The Gifts would be ours! Indeed, with the new techniques I witnessed, the Gifts would soon be ours.
